National League football nowadays is a full-time business, twelve months a year, similar to major league baseball in scope and fan interest. It's possible that your readers or listeners may come up with questions you are unable to answer. If this happens, send the letters along to us and we will consider it a privilege to answer them with your compliments.

If there is anything in the way of special information that you wish, don't hesitate to call or write us. We will provide regular news, feature stories and pictures.

We sincerely appreciate your wonderful cooperation in past years. In advance we say "THANKS A MILLION" for the same continued cooperation in the future.

CARDINALS OWNER

The Chicago Cardinals Football Club, the team which won the world championship in 1947 and the Western Division title in 1947 and 1948 is owned by Mrs. Violet M. Bidwill Wolfner.

In back of Mrs. Wolfner are Charles Jr. and William Bidwill, a pair of football-minded sons. Charles 26 years old and known as "Stormy," is the new president of the Cards and a Member Board of Directors. William is vice-president and a Member Board of Directors.

Mrs. Wolfner is Chairman of the Board of Directors and takes an active interest in all of the Family enterprises.

Mrs. Wolfner and Mrs. Grace Comiskey, owner of Chicago White Sox, are the only feminine owners of major professional sports teams — and both clubs operate at the same stand — Comiskey Park.

CHARLES W. BIDWILL, President

Charles W. Bidwill, Jr., is in his third year as president of the Chicago Cardinals. "Stormy" as he is known throughout the sports world is 26 years old and during the past year has taken a very active interest in the management of the Cardinal organization.

"Stormy" recently completed his law studies at Georgetown University and is now a practicing lawyer in Illinois. Although young in years, Charles is long in experience with the sports world. His late father was associated with almost every sports venture that came into Chicago over a period of twenty-years prior to his death in 1947. Since childhood, Charles was a constant companion of his dad and as a result has had many years of experience to acclimate himself with the many duties required in operating a professional football team.

Charles is married to the former Patricia Shea of New York and has two daughters, Christine three years and Patricia nine months.

WILLIAM V. BIDWILL, Vice-President

William V. Bidwill, younger son is vice president and also a member of the board of directors. Billy graduated from Georgetown this spring and is enrolled in the Northwestern Law School for the fall term.

Managing Director

CHICAGO CARDINALS FOOTBALL CLUB

Walter H. S. Wolfner, now in his fourth year as the guiding genius of the Chicago Cardinals Football Club, is a forceful, energetic individual who will be satisfied only when he has the Cards on top in the National Football League.

In an effort to build the Cardinals into a championship ball club once again, Wolfner has reorganized the entire coaching staff with Joe Stydahar taking over the duties as head coach. In Stydahar, Wolfner feels that the Cardinals have obtained the services of a great coach who has proven himself in football's toughest competition.

CARDINALS' HISTORY

By Eddie McGuire

The Cardinals, World Champions in 1947 and Western Division title winners in 1947 and 1948, is the oldest professional football team in Chicago. The club was organized in 1899 as the Morgan A. C. and became a charter member of what is now the National Football League in 1920. The Bears—then known as the Staleys of Decatur, Illinois—moved to Chicago in 1922.

The name Cardinals resulted when the team, organized and owned by the late Chris O'Brien, bought some red jerseys, and inasmuch as they were playing at 61st and Racine, took the name of Racine Cardinals. The Racine part was dropped later on when there was a club organized in Racine, Wis., and the team has since been known as the Chicago Cardinals.

Down through the years, the Cards, in addition to Driscoll, have had such greats as Hugo Bezdek, Fred Gillies, Nick McInerney, Eddie Anderson, Rog Kiley, A. and R. Horween (Harvard graduates who played under the name of McMahon), Johnny Mohardt, "Red" Dunn, Lennie Sachs, "Gob" Buckeye, Pete Steger, Jack Crangle, Bob Koehler, Norman Barry, Wilfrid Smith (Tribune Sports Writer), Willis Brennan, Bill Whalen (Herald-American Sports Writer), Ernie Nevers, Mike Mikulak, George Grosvenor, Duke Slater, Tim Moynihan, Mikey McDonald, Frank McNally, Pat Coffee, Gaynell Tinsley, Doug Russell, Phil Handler, Marshall Goldberg and a host of others who were the headline grabbers of their day.

Professional football has come a long way since the early 1920's when, the two Horween boys of Harvard played under assumed names with the Cardinals. Their parents thought the pro game degrading and the general public looked upon pro football players as individuals who clawed, bit and kicked (and not the football), and wouldn't hesitate at gouging out an eye of the opposition.

Today National Football League clubs may carry 33 men on their rosters and most teams are right up to the limit. Chris O'Brien, original Cards owner who passed away last year, got a kick out of that.

"When the league started we carried from 14 to 16 players. Of course, carrying any more would mean going farther in the hole every payday because the money didn't come in at the gate, but there was an additional reason," said O'Brien. "We started eleven players, just like they do today, but if you took one of the players out for anything less than a broken leg or skull fracture, you had a guy on your hands who wouldn't talk to you for a week. None of the players wanted to sit on the bench, so it cost more for utility players than some of the men were in there playing sixty minutes."

Of course, those days are gone forever to pro football. Today most players specialize in offensive or defensive play. You have the two-three and four platoon system.

Practically all teams play the T formation and owners and coachs alike turn their heads and mumble a fervent prayer when their No. 1 quarterback gets out of the pocket and three or four huge linemen bear down on him.

The quarterback is a signal-caller, ball handler and top-ranking man on the field. Unless he is doing the punting, he's out of the game the minute his team gives up the ball.

This is part of football history — the Cardinals as well as other teams. In 1949 the Cardinals scored 360 points, averaging 30 per game. On Nov. 13, 1949, the Cards set a National Football league record by scoring 65 points in a game against the New York Bulldogs. That was just nine points less than the total of 74 scored in 12 games by the Cards during the entire 1936 season.

Football has moved along in the same manner as baseball. The home run and the quick touchdown thrust, increase the tempo and the pulse of the sports fan.

To get back to actual history—

The Cardinals vs. Bears series is the oldest rivalry in pro football, having started back in 1920. Regardless of the standings of these clubs, fans always look forward to a bitter battle whenever they meet. The Cardinals have defeated the Bears five times in their last six league games.

In 1925 when the Cards won their previous championship the league had twenty member teams, a total exceeded only once in the league's 34 seasons of play, that being in 1926 when there were 22 teams.

In 35 years the Cards have had three owners, Chris O'Brien selling to Dr. David J. Jones of Chicago on July 27, 1929, the latter selling to the late Charles W. Bidwill, whose survivors, Mrs. Violet Bidwill Wolfner, and Sons Charles (Stormy) and William are the present owners.

CARDINALS COACHES

JOE STYDAHAR, Head Coach

"Jumbo Joe" Stydahar, who achieved greatness in Chicago as a tackle with the Chicago Bears, is starting his second season as coach of the Chicago Cardinals — most bitter rivals of the Bears.

Joe's record as a player and coach in the National Football League has no equal. In eight and one-half years as a Bears tackle he helped the North Siders win four world's championships and seven Western Division titles. After joining the Los Angeles Rams as an assistant coach the Rams started to move. In 1949, while still an assistant with the Rams, the team won Western Division honors but lost to the Philadelphia Eagles in the playoffs.

In 1950, when Stydahar took over as head coach, the Rams tied with the Bears for Western Division honors and then defeated his former mates in a playoff. However, a field goal by Lou Groza in the late seconds of the game gave Cleveland's Browns a 30 - 28 decision in the world's championship contest.

In 1951 Stydahar's leadership and inspiration led the Rams into the world's championship game and a 24 - 17 triumph over the Cleveland Browns. A misunderstanding led to Stydahar leaving the Rams early in 1952 but the big gent's love for the game resulted in his aiding Coach Gene Ronzani of the Green Bay Packers late in the 1952 season.

SO — in fourteen and one-half years in the league, teams which Joe has been associated with as a player, assistant coach and head coach, have won five world's championships and nine Western Division championships.

Joe was born in Kaylor, Pa., March 3, 1912 and moved to Shinnston, West Virginia at the tender age of four. While in high school he was selected to All-State football teams as a tackle and as a fullback and three times was picked as the top basketball center in West Virginia. In his spare time as a prep he played third base for the baseball team.

Entered the U. of Pittsburgh in 1932 but a few weeks later became homesick and returned home to attend the U. of West Virginia where he became an All-America tackle. Played in the East-West and Chicago Tribune College All-Star classics before joining the Bears for the 1936 season.

As a member of the Bears, Stydahar became an All-Time All-National Football league tackle and unquestionably will be front-center in Football's Hall of Fame.

Joe's tenure with the Bears was interrupted in 1943 when Uncle Sam decided that he needed him in the Navy, a situation which existed until near the end of the 1945 season.

A genial gent who can be tough when the occasion demands, Joe has the respect and admiration of all of his players. A student of the game and an advocate of the adage — "A good offense is the best defense," Stydahar goes all out for the idea of scoring early and often.

He likes to throw the ball because he feels that you'll get six points in your favor on the scoreboard a bit quicker that way. His big problem this year is the quarterback and end positions — most important to his idea of throwing. Six quarterbacks, all rookies, remained with the Cardinals as they started on their five-game preseason schedule this year and Joe was to determine his starting signal-caller by the showing of these first-year men in these games.

Stydahar has never been with a loser and the spirit and attitude he has instilled in the 1953 Chicago Cardinals indicates his past record — never being with a loser — will continue intact.

He is now a resident of Glencoe, Ill., having recently purchased a home there. He is married and has two sons, David and Joseph Jr.

RAY RICHARDS, Assistant Coach

Richards was tabbed to be Head Coach Joe Stydahar's right hand man when "Jumbo Joe" took the Cardinals job last year. However, due to previous commitments to the Baltimore Colts and Keith Molesworth, Richards continued with the Colts last year. He was signed at the league meeting this year and now Stydahar, the entire Cardinals organization, and particularly Richards are satisfied.

Ray was a tackle in his college days in the late 20's at the University of Nebraska, after graduating he turned to pro football, playing with the Philadelphia Yellowjackets, Chicago Bears, Detroit Lions and back to the Bears where he was a teammate of Stydahar.

Richards next became player-coach for the Los Angeles Bulldogs. His next job was with UCLA as line coach and he remained with the Uclans for ten years. Ray then took over as head man at Pepperdine College and in 1951, after three years at Pepperdine, joined his old teammate—"Jumbo Joe"—as his line coach with the Los Angeles Rams. Ray and Boss Joe were an outstanding team with the Rams and Ray's linemen were in a large way responsible for the Rams titles.

It is suspected that Ray will collaborate with Boss Joe in winning more titles and 1954 wouldn't be too soon as far as Chicago fans are concerned.

ERNIE JORGE, Line Coach

Ernie Jorge is starting his second season with the Cardinals. In 1951 and 1952 he was head coach at the College of Pacific where his lines drew words of praise from just about everywhere. When Stydahar took over the Cardinals position, he made it plain that Jorge was one of the men he needed most.

Born in Turlock, California, Oct. 7, 1914, Ernie attended high school there and was one of California's outstanding prep guards, a position he played under Slip Madigan after enrolling at St. Mary's (Calif.).

Jorge (pronounced GEORGE) started coaching at Christian Brothers High in San Francisco and has been at it for fifteen years, the last six being at College of Pacific and the last two being as head coach when his teams have played in the Sun Bowl Game. Is married and has a 12 year old daughter.

BOB NOWASKEY, End Coach

Nowaskey, like Head Coach Joe Stydahar and Assistant Ray Richards, is well known to Chicago fans. Bob was born in Everson, Pa., went to high school in Scottdale, but moved out of the state to George Washington U. for his college education and fame as a grid star. Captained George Washington in his senior year and then moved into pro ball as a member of the Chicago Bears in 1940.

Was an end and fullback at G. W. but was an exceptionally rough, tough defensive end for the Bears before entering the Navy. After his discharge he joined the Los Angeles Dons and was a fixture in opposing backfields of All-America Conference teams for 1946 and 1947 as a member of the Dons, and in 1948, 1949 and 1950, with the Baltimore Colts. Played defensive end and outside linebacker with the Colts.

Bob has been head coach at Calvert High School in Baltimore the past three years. Bob is 35 years old.

JOE MUHA, Backfield Coach

Muha is a former member of the Philadelphia Eagles and Cardinal fans remember him well as a rugged defensive back and a gent who could kick the ball out of the stadium. Was born in Central City, Pa., 33 years ago. Played football, baseball and was a member of the track team at Stowe High in McKees Rock, Pa. Participated in same sports at Virginia Military Institute, where he graduated with a B.S. degree in Civil Engineering. Then entered Marine Corps as 2nd Lieutenant, was in the Battle of Iwo Jima. Was Eagles No. 1 draft choice in 1943 and finally got around to joining them in 1946. Eagles won three division titles and two world pro championships during his five years with the club. Led league in punting with 47.2 yard average for 59 kicks in 1948. Was assistant coach at USC the past two seasons, the Trojans winning 7, losing 3, in 1952 and last year won the Pacific Coast Conference title with a record of nine wins, one loss, and then defeated Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl Classic. Muha has a M.D. in Economics.

OLLIE MATSON, Fullback, U. of San Francisco, second year with the Chicago Cardinals. Played with Cards in 1952 and has been in Service since end of that season. Ollie was born 24 years ago in Houston, Tex., and played some sports there. However he attained greatness at USF due to his All-America activity in football and track. He was unanimous All-America selection in football. In three years at USF he carried the ball 547 times for a total of 3,166 yards, an average of 5.8 yards every time he carried the ball. Had an average of 6.4 yards while gaining 1,566 yards and scoring 21 touchdowns in his senior year and scored 41 TD's during his three years at USF. Ollie then competed with the U.S. Olympic track team which was victorious at Helsinke, Finland, in 1952. Starred in the 400 meters and also with the 1,600 meter relay team. After joining the Cardinals in '52 he played both offense and defense, and despite a broken left wrist—suffered in the fifth game, he was easily the rookie of the year. His most sensational runs were 100-yard and 79-yard kickoffs returns for touchdowns. During the season he carried the ball 96 times for 344 yards, caught 11 passes for 187 yards, returned 9 punts for 86 yards and 20 kickoffs for 623 yards and led the Cards in scoring with 9 touchdowns. His greatest day was against the Pittsburgh Steelers—the day he broke his wrist—when he caught three passes for TD's, carried the ball 10 times for 83 yards, returned three punts for 30 yards and two kickoffs for 45 yards. His best time in the 100-yard dash was 9.5 seconds. He is the fastest human in a football uniform and the Cardinals are predicting he will be the greatest player the National Football league has ever seen when he sheds Uncle Sam's Army regalia and gets into a Cardinal uniform again this year. Ollie is 6-2, weighs 200.

JOHNNY OLSZEWSKI, Fullback, U. of California, second year with the Chicago Cardinals. Born Dec. 21, 1930 in Washington, D.C. Played football, basketball, baseball and also lettered in track in high school at Long Beach, Calif., his home city. Earned 11 letters in prep school. In college he played football only earning three letters and captaining the football team. Captained grid team in Senior year at St. Anthony's high and was voted California Interscholastic Federation Player of the Year in 1948. At California he set a Pacific Coast Conference record when he carried the ball 416 times for a net gain of 2,504 yards over a three-year period. Previous record was held by Hugh McElhenny of the U. of Washington, now a National League star with the San Francisco 49ers. In 1952 he was selected All-Conference, All-Coast, All-America, and was picked on NEA and INS Players All-America teams. Coach Joe Stydahar had planned to use Johnny as a right halfback last year and had him working at that spot right up to a week before the season opened when Fullback Ralph Pasquariello suffered a leg injury which kept him out for the season. Johnny was shifted to fullback and, along about midseason, after getting fully acclimated to the position, went on to establish himself, as Coach Stydahar puts it, as the "Rookie of the Year." Last year John carried the ball 106 times for 386 yards and four touchdowns and caught 21 passes for 210 yards and one touchdown. He returned one kickoff for 17 yards. There is little question but what Johnny "O" will take his place as one of the greats of the National league. Was Cards first choice in 1953. Is 5-11, weighs 195.

JACK SPINKS, Fullback, Alcorn A & M, second year with Chicago Cardinals. Born Aug. 15, 1930 in Toomsuba, Miss. Cards obtained him in a deal with the Pittsburgh Steelers last year. Had a bad foot when he reported and didn't get into the game much until Fullback Johnny Olszewski came up with an injured knee in the Chicago Bears game, final contest of the '53 season. Coach Joe Stydahar attributed the Cards 21-17 victory over the Bears to Spinks terrific blocking. Looked great in training camp this year. Has exceptional speed for big man. Is six feet in height, weighs 240. Third year in league.

BILL SVOBODA, Fullback, Tulane, fifth year with Chicago Cardinals. Born July 12, 1928 in Witichata Falls, Tex. Competed in football, basketball and track in high school in Bonham, Tex. Earned four letters in football and captained varsity his Senior year. Was outstanding blocker, ball carrier and line backer at Tulane. Is one of National League's outstanding defensive backs and because of his ability along defensive lines, has played very little offense. Home is in Houma, La. where he will open a gas station at the end of the 1954 season. Is 6 feet in height, weighs 210.
